Physics Metaphysics and GOD

by Jack W. Geis

Throughout Part 1 of the book the author quotes from notables such as Eugene Wigner, John Wheeler, Deepak Chopra, Larry Dossey, Fred Wolf, Amit Goswami and Edward R. Close on the subject of basic quantum physics and philosophy. In varying degrees each believes that observation of quantum phenomena and resultant interpretations involve consciousness. That is, consciousness plays a significant, if not primary role in interpreting or even shaping reality, God.

Each ascribes to consciousness a mental nature, but not necessarily a wholly spiritual nature independent of matter, space -time. Here is where the author and the above-mentioned begin to "part company." The author believes that beyond the quantum and quantum phenomena lies the realm of Spirit

In Part II the author discusses the phenomena of spiritual healing, or healing by prayer. No other book on the market brings in the works of Christ Jesus in a book that discusses both physics and metaphysics in the way the author does. The author presents documented healings occurring in the present age through prayer to substantiate his claim for the presence of God (Mind) and the spiritual nature of man and the universe.

The Ultimate Freedom

by John H Wyndham

This true, spiritual adventure story begins when the author is captured on the island of Java during the Second World War. The way he finds his freedom during his three years of captivity makes for inspiring reading. After the war the author takes the reader on further spiritual adventures to do with employment, income, economic freedom, and his work with the United Nations. The author later lectured worldwide, in four languages, on the subject of spiritual healing.

Lectures and Articles on Christian Science Edward & Kimball

Hardback £15.95

This book is a record of the work of one dedicated Christian Scientist. But Kimball would not have wanted anyone to believe the concepts of Christian Science were original to him. As he said in one of his lectures (referring to the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy, and her foundational book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures"):

"Although not attempting to use her phraseology or to republish any part of her book it is proper to say that no Christian Scientist does more in making such an explanation than to reproduce in part or to reiterate what she has already written and taught on the subject." .

Lectures and Articles on Christian Science Edward & Kimball

Softback £10.95

A dedicated and enthusiastic worker in the early Christian Science movement, Edward Kimball was prolific in lectures and articles. This compilation of his writings was put together by his wife and daughter and published in 1921 (and again in 1961).

The lectures and articles are focused on explaining aspects of Christian Science to the general public at the time of their writing. These are followed by his addresses to Christian Science audiences who already understood the basic concepts, so he spoke in a bit more depth. The last chapter consists of letters and snippets of letters about Christian Science to his students and friends. Charton Manor and The Visiting Christian Science Nurse Service,

Cracking The Camouflage Ceiling

by Chaplain (Colonel) Janet Yarlott Horton

Janet Horton was one of the first women chaplains in the US military. Men in the armed forces were not easily accepting women in the days of challenge and change in the 1970s. Some officers and enlisted men, even among the chaplaincy, refused to respect women chaplains. Both officers and men sometimes mocked, demeaned and threatened Horton in her work of comforting army personnel, uplifting morale and conducting Christian religious services.

Being in the small Christian Science denomination did not help things for this woman, who, unusually for a woman, prevailed and achieved the rank of colonel. This really is the story of how deep faith in the promises of the Gospel and the idea of unselfish service, patience, and smart and capable performance changed minds and hearts of many in the military. Pioneers often have to run races and climb hurdles; this is that story told in a winning and inspiring way.

This is a second CD of organ music performed by James Cook on the organ in the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Edinburgh. The title draws inspiration from the words of the architect Mies van der Rohe who had a vision that artistic work could be produced with minimal resources. Although the Edinburgh organ has only 8 stops the CD demonstrates that. because of the instrument's quality, integrity and disciplined design, it is capable of handling a wide range of music.

by Auriel Wyndham Livezey

From decades spent in the Christian Science practice, Auriel tackles many questions about answers - why we get them and why we don't. Subjects such as what happened to parenting in the '60s, and how the work at hand leads to employment, are accompanied by the whimsical illustrations of Hank Richter.

Three Gifts

by Auriel Wyndham Livezey

Why are the churches diminishing?

Why is religion encountering rough seas?

Religion, medicine, science are represented at a special conference on the subject. Will they all be sailing into the future together or will religion be left behind? The past, present and future for the three could be surprising
